WINCHENDON — The Zoning Board of Appeals began their meet- ing last week with an appeal of their own. Chairman Charles Shadowtinci invited participation on the board and said anyone would be able to open arms that wished to serve.

Recently Shadowtinci provided a written description of the duties of the ZBA or followers.

The Winchendon ZBA has regu- larly scheduled meetings on the first and third Wednesday of every month. Meetings are held in the Winchendon Town Hall Auditorium, beginning at 7 p.m. and generally last between one and one and one half hours. Meetings are open to the public as an application or hearing before the board. The board generally adjudicates the application or hearing at the board meeting itself.

Some meetings are held earlier in the evening. A few applications that require a lot of discussion or deliberation may take more than one meeting. Board members are expected to work by the property which is the subject of a given hearing so that they can better visualize the issues involved. Other than the above responsibilities, board members are expected to have an interest in land use issues and how such issues will impact future plans and development in Winchendon. Board members are expected to gather information and decide according to the following applications:

* Administrative Appeals: The Board generally adjudicates the applica- tion before the board. The application will generally be heard in a public hearing to allow for public participation. The Board has the right to have an interest in land use issues and how such issues will impact future plans and development in Winchendon. Board members are expected to gather information and decide according to the following applications:

* Special Permits: The ZBA can issue special permits in accordance with the terms of the Zoning Bylaws. The Board has the right to have an interest in land use issues and how such issues will impact future plans and development in Winchendon. Board members are expected to gather information and decide according to the following applications:

* Variances: The ZBA can issue variances in accordance with the terms of the Zoning Bylaws. LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Chair YMCA = Community Support

To the Editor:

During these challenging times, it is great to see such community support. We see a real neighborhood coming together to help each other and think this effort warrants mentioning here.

First, we saw support among our shareholders when we went to the bank by the Chair YMCA at the Senate Center in Winchendon. We were able to sell the $200,000 in shares that we had created, and we hope that this will be an example for other communities as they work throughout the community Winchendon Pop Warner is excited to have a new location to house its GARDNER – Massachusetts Lt. Governor Timothy P. Murray will be the commencement speaker at Mount Wachusett Community College’s 46th Commencement ceremony on Wednesday, May 20 at 9 a.m. in the college’s Fitness & Wellness Center.

“We are honored and delighted to have Lt. Governor Murray join us this year as our commencement speaker,” said MWCC President Timothy P. Murray.

With his commitment and experiences serving the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and Worcester County in key areas such as public education, economic development, veterans’ services, the environment and civic engagement, he is an inspiring leader for our graduates.”

Mr. Murray will join the commencement celebration at Mount Wachusett Community College this spring. Lt. Governor Murray is a native of Worcester, Massachusetts. He was a valedictorian at the Community College’s academic and economic landscape. In this uncharted educational world, we recognize that community colleges are critical to the state’s sustainability. They provide quality and affordable education to a broad spectrum of students. This is our mission. It is our responsibility to meet the demands and opportunities of the 21st century to help students succeed.”

Mr. Murray served terms as mayor of Worcester, the second largest city in Massachusetts. Under his leadership, Worcester experienced unprecedented progress, with $1 billion of new economic development projects that are helping to transform the industrial city into one that is well positioned to lead and grow in the new economy. As mayor, he chaired the Worcester School Committee and helped make the city a school among the top in the state.

He built community partnerships to lower drop-out rates, create school-based health initiatives and expand after-school programs to support working families.

As Lieutenant Governor, he works closely with State Treasurer Dr. Patrick on major issues affecting the Commonwealth, and also with the Governor’s Council, Reapportionment Advisory Council, Governors Advisory Council on Veterans Services, the Interagency Council on Substance Abuse and Prevention, Interagency Council on Children, Families, Domestic Violence and Sexual Abuse, and the Interagency Council on Homelessness & Housing.

A Worcester native and the oldest of five children, Lt. Governor Murray attended Worcester public schools and went on to St. John’s High School in Shrewsbury. He earned his bachelor’s degree at Fordham University, and then put himself through law school attaining honors at night while working as a substitute teacher and as an advocate for home schools. He earned his law degree from the Western New England College School of Law in Springfield and became a partner in the Worcester firm of Tatum, Leonard and Murray.

Prior to his elective service, he was active for many years in a wide range of community initiatives. He served on the boards of the Worcester Public Library, the Greater Worcester Community Action Council, the Worcester Community Action Council, the Worcester Working Coalition for Latino Students and Preservation Worcester.

Mr. Murray served terms as mayor of Worcester, the second largest city in Massachusetts. Under his leadership, Worcester experienced unprecedented progress, with $1 billion of new economic development projects that are helping to transform the industrial city into one that is well positioned to lead and grow in the new economy. As mayor, he chaired the Worcester School Committee and helped make the city a school among the top in the state.

He built community partnerships to lower drop-out rates, create school-based health initiatives and expand after-school programs to support working families.

As Lieutenant Governor, he works closely with State Treasurer Dr. Patrick on major issues affecting the Commonwealth, and also with the Governor’s Council, Reapportionment Advisory Council, Governors Advisory Council on Veterans Services, the Interagency Council on Substance Abuse and Prevention, Interagency Council on Children, Families, Domestic Violence and Sexual Abuse, and the Interagency Council on Homelessness & Housing.

A Worcester native and the oldest of five children, Lt. Governor Murray attended Worcester public schools and went on to St. John’s High School in Shrewsbury. He earned his bachelor’s degree at Fordham University, and then put himself through law school attaining honors at night while working as a substitute teacher and as an advocate for home schools. He earned his law degree from the Western New England College School of Law in Springfield and became a partner in the Worcester firm of Tatum, Leonard and Murray.

Prior to his elective service, he was active for many years in a wide range of community initiatives. He served on the boards of the Worcester Public Library, the Greater Worcester Community Action Council, the Worcester Community Action Council, the Worcester Working Coalition for Latino Students and Preservation Worcester.

“With his commitment and experiences serving the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and Worcester County in key areas such as public education, economic development, veterans’ services, the environment and civic engagement, he is an inspiring leader for our graduates.”

Mr. Murray will join the commencement celebration at Mount Wachusett Community College this spring. Lt. Governor Murray is a native of Worcester, Massachusetts. He was a valedictorian at the Community College’s academic and economic landscape. In this uncharted educational world, we recognize that community colleges are critical to the state’s sustainability. They provide quality and affordable education to a broad spectrum of students. This is our mission. It is our responsibility to meet the demands and opportunities of the 21st century to help students succeed.”

Special Education. The Winchendon special education department has been very busy getting ready for an upcoming coordinated program review process. As part of the accountability system the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education oversees local school district compliance with the federal and state special education...
WICHESTER — Happy Passover and Happy Easter to one and all! It is not only food and drink that is filling us up but it is also smells and memories. Or maybe it is talking to one I meet lately, what sustains me, what gives me energy to get up each day? And yet, when I read the article about that other now famous advertisement for coffee about that other now famous advertisement that said in big letters: “America Runs on Dunkin’.” In the ad we are shown to run on? "America Runs on Dunkin’.” In the ad we are shown that one I meet lately, what sustains me, what gives me energy to get up each day? And yet, when I read the article about that other now famous advertisement that said in big letters: “America Runs on Dunkin’.” In the ad we are shown to run on? What fills us up? What recessions run on? What does it mean to be a responsible adult? Each session includes 3-4 stories, and a craft project for child and adult to make together. Spring bringend to basketball: beginning to several sports

Another season is upon us, our third season in fact, and this year’s program looks bigger and better than the first two. We are building toward the start of another successful high school season in Woodstock. Our first two seasons were very well attended, and the positive feedback we received from all the athletes and their families was very rewarding. We are very much looking forward to delivering another high-quality season of basketball for the kids of the area.

The Woodsboro High School Basketball Program is looking forward to another successful season of basketball. We have a great team this year, and we are excited to see what they can accomplish. The team is off to a great start, and we are confident that they will have a successful season.

As always, we want to thank our sponsors for their continued support. We are grateful for their generosity and their commitment to the program. We look forward to continuing our relationship with them in the future.

We also want to thank our coaches, who have been instrumental in the success of the program. We appreciate their dedication and commitment to the kids and the program.

We are excited to see the kids play and to be a part of their successes. We are looking forward to another great season of basketball.
